The Controversy Over Cigarettes and Lung Cancer

Today's topic is not a pleasant one, but its discussion is the duty of any newspaper which aims to ep ils readers informed controversial subjects. The December issue of Harper's magazine published an article by Leonard Engel, an experienced medical writer, summing up evidence on both sides of the question as to whether or not tobaccosmoking is the cause of a worldwide increase in lung cancer. There is an actual increase prevalence of lung cancer merely the result of more ough diagnosis, but a factual Nevertheless Mr. Engel opens
